Meanwhile, Sister Joanna has written up the following news item to help keep you posted on life at the monastery:

On Valentine's Day we found a surprise gift in our chicken coop—a mother hen with 12 chicks! Where did they come from? The hens in our flock are free-ranging during the days and return to the coop at night. Apparently, they also lay eggs while they roam, and this hen found a safe place to sit on a large clutch of them. She is a good mama. She brought the youngsters into the safety of the coop and fenced yard when they hatched. We have made their new home as safe as possible and we are enjoying watching them grow.
